Sunday Services Schedule

April Ministry Theme: Transcendence Services at 9:00 and 11:00 AM

April 1: "Sunrise Song."

Our Annual Easter Music Service. Family Service. "Very early on the first day of the week, when the sun had risen, they went to the tomb...." Easter points us toward new beginnings both personal and cosmic. What new beginning offers itself to you this Easter? What sunrise song are you singing?

Coordinators: Mary Bopp, Gina Campellone, Rev. Josh Pawelek

April 8: "I Sing the Body Transcendent."

Our ministry theme for April is transcendence, a term often used to identify God as over, above, beyond and different from humanity and the earth. Yet, people across the planet purport to commune with God through spiritual practices that use the body. Do our bodies transcend?

Coordinator: Rev. Josh Pawelek

April 15: "Language School."

At UUS:E, many "languages" are used to convey matters of the heart, spirit, and mind. One member will share his thoughts about some of these and the ways in which they have awakened awareness of connections just dimly perceived. Speaker: Lauriston King.

Coordinator: Lauriston King.

Coordinator:

April 22: "Earth Guardians."

Family Service. This morning we present and celebrate the work of the Earth Guardians, who describe themselves as "a tribe of young activists, artists, and musicians from across the globe stepping up as leaders to co-create the future we know is possible." Bring a drawing, painting, picture, water color, poster, etc. that portrays something you love about the earth. Photo-op after worship!

Coordinators: Anne Vaughan, Ellen Castaldini, Lorry King, Gina Campellone, Rev. Josh Pawelek

April 29: "Building (and Living!) Your Own Theology."

Building (and Living!) Your Own Theology is an adult religious education program that helps participants explore their own personal journeys of faith. Program participants were drawn from Unitarian Universalist Society: East, the Unitarian Society of Hartford, and the Universalist Church of West Hartford. Three members of the program will present their reflections in this service.

Speakers: Peggy Webbe (UUS:E), Zean Gassmann

and Crystal Kelley (USH).

Coordinator: TBD

May 6: "The Weight of So Much Inhumanity."

This title comes from the Jewish theologian Abraham Joshua Heschel, who lamented the failure of prophetic witness and action among the Abrahamic faiths in the 20th century. Rev. Josh reports on the rebirth of Martin Luther King's "Poor Peoples' Campaign" in 2018. This sermon was purchased by Stan and Sue McMillen at the 2017 UUS:E Goods and Services Auction.

Coordinator: Rev. Josh Pawelek

Charitable Giving for April 2018

As always, thank you for your generosity.

"We do not gather our gifts only for ourselves, but to share with the larger community."

Continuing our practice of sharing our gifts with the community beyond our walls, fifty percent of our Sunday plate collections for the month of April will be split between CT Alliance to End Sexual Violence and Covenant to Care for Children.

Connecticut Alliance to End Sexual Violence (The Alliance) is a statewide alliance of individual sexual assault crisis programs. The Alliance works to end sexual violence through victim assistance, community education, and public policy advocacy.

Covenant to Care for Children channels the generosity of caring and faithful people to advocate for, and provide direct assistance to Connecticut's children who are neglected, abused and/or impoverished. The committee overseeing our community outreach efforts welcomes your comments and suggestions.

Please contact Louisa Graver at Graver30@att.net, David Lacoss, or Nancy Madar at nancymadar@hotmail.com.

Checks made out to UUS:E will be treated as follows: If the memo line:

The Minister's Column: Hallelujah!

Dear Ones:

I want to share my learnings from the March 18th "On Being a Sanctuary Congregation" presentation by the Rev. Paul Fleck, along with members of the UU Church of Meriden and First and Summerfield Methodist Church, New Haven. It was a powerful and inspiring presentation, attended not only by UUS:E members and friends, but also by members of at least three other local congregations.

First, I learned about the urgent need to provide sanctuary, especially in our region where no congregation is yet doing so. Deportations have increased dramatically in the last year. Most discouragingly, Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) is now deporting people who don't have criminal convictions; who have minor children who are U.S. citizens; who are primary breadwinners for or caregivers to family members who are citizens; who are married to citizens; who have been living and working in the U.S., paying taxes, and contributing to their communities for decades; or who came to the U.S. to escape ecological disaster or political or gang persecution in their home countries. The federal government's treatment of such people is immoral and disgraceful. As a Unitarian Universalist who affirms the inherent worth and dignity of every person, and justice, equity and compassion in human relations, I can no longer tolerate witnessing this escalation in deportations, this breaking apart of families, this returning innocent people to extreme poverty, hardship, and even death. If we, as the Unitarian Universalist Society: East, can help such people avoid deportation, I am convinced we should do it. And I am convinced we can do it! Why? First, our building is incredibly well-suited for this purpose. We have a shower, laundry facilities, 2 kitchens, 6 bathrooms, and lots of rooms. Wherever we might house someone, it would be slightly disruptive to the normal flow of our congregational life, but it would be a small price to pay for living out our principles.

Second, we can set clear parameters around the terms of our sanctuary offer. This is not an openended housing arrangement. It is only a last resort for someone who is about to be deported. If we offer sanctuary to an individual or family, we can (and truly must) confirm that they have competent legal counsel, and that we are providing housing only while they have active legal options in progress. If their legal options become exhausted, then they would be forced to leave the country. They would not stay with us in perpetuity.

Third, we won't be in this effort alone. There are a number of networks providing support and funding for immigrants facing deportation. Already, the leaders of United for a Safe and Inclusive Community, Manchester, have pledged their support for UUS:E if we choose to go this route. Participants in the March 18th presentation said they were overwhelmed with the outpouring of community support and funding. The UU Church of Meriden is projecting a surplus of sanctuary funds once their current guests have resolved their legal issues.

Finally, the Meriden and New Haven congregations said they have found sanctuary work to be life- and faith-affirming. They have made new connections in their communities, including with the police, and their congregations feel alive and inspired.

Of course, this is a congregational decision. The Policy Board is currently discerning next steps. It is likely we will establish a Sanctuary Committee that will be responsible for creating a plan that can be quickly executed in the event we are called on to offer sanctuary. If you are interested in working with such a committee, please let me know. Also, I am very interested in hearing the opinions of people who have reservations about becoming a sanctuary congregation, and I welcome your feedback at revpawelek@gmail.com or 860-652-8961.

With love, --Rev. Josh

A Religious Education message from Gina

Dear Friends,

Recently at a Religious Education conference I was asked to share the basic structure of our RE program here at UUS:E. I described the format we follow—classroom sessions twice a month, a social action project once a month, and a multigenerational worship service once a month. While such a format is certainly not unique to our congregation, it's true that most UU congregations do not currently offer multigenerational worship monthly. However, more frequent multigenerational worship is indeed something that many congregations are working toward. In fact, increasing opportunities for folks of all age to not only worship, but also play, pray, eat, work, and talk together has become a common goal of UU churches everywhere.

Planning multigenerational programming can be challenging. This is especially true of multigenerational worship services. Creating a worship service that is meaningful and engaging to people of all ages requires careful preparation and intentional inclusion of many different components, including incorporating multiple learning styles, considering attention span, allowing opportunities for movement and interaction while also keeping in mind those with limited mobility, and so forth. One of the most important components of a quality multigenerational service is offering elements with multiple levels of meaning on a theme, like layers of an onion that can be peeled away. Some folks may be able to get at the very heart of the message, while others may only scratch the surface, but everyone gets something from it. Reverend Josh and I often collaborate on the creation of multigenerational services, and this year, members of the Sunday Services Committee have begun to work with us, as well. No doubt about it, planning such services requires a significant amount of time and energy for all involved. So why do it? What's the big deal about multigenerational services anyway? The answer is easy—we do it because it's important. We do it because it matters. We do it because we believe that it is essential to the spiritual growth and development, not just of our children, but all of us.

*Multigenerational worship benefits everyone. When we include children in worship we all get to practice being more patient and more generous with one another. Multigenerational worship makes us stronger. When we all worship together we establish and strengthen relationships across generations. It also makes us more welcoming. When we welcome kids into worship, we demonstrate how welcome everyone is. Multigenerational worship is how our children learn our liturgy. It's how they learn our rituals, hymns, and responsive readings. It's where they learn the value of hearing one another's stories and the gift of holding one another in times of sorrow and celebrating in times of joy. Multigenerational worship lets children know that they are important members of our community right now-not just at some point in the future when they grow up. Sure, multigenerational worship planning is time intensive, but it's worth it. Reverend Josh and I, intensive, but it's worth it. Reverend Josh and I, along with the RE Committee and the Sunday Services Committee all agree that it's worth the extra time and effort. It's also exciting to know that we are not alone in our work toward expanding multigenerational ministry. This summer I will attend a week-long workshop on multigenerational ministry and faith formation, and I look forward to sharing ideas with colleagues and learning from those who are on the cutting edge of thought and research on this very topic.

If you have ideas for multigenerational worship services or programming, I would love to hear from you. With love,

Gina

*Thalia Kehoe Rowden explores the many benefits of multigenerational worship in her article "Twelve Reasons to Welcome Kids in Church + Tips for Actually Doing It," from which I shared just a few examples. The article in its entirety can be read here: http://sacraparental.com/2016/06/11/12-reasons-welcome-kids-church-tips-actually/

About Charlie Braun & Friends

Charlie Braun's kirtan is in the Western style: a fusion of melodic folk-rock that meanders into reggae, blues, and other musical forays while staying true to the heart-opening power of Sanskrit mantras. A lifelong singer-songwriter, Charlie is also an award-winning record producer, award-nominated music creationist, and an acclaimed guitarist. Joined by vocalist Brie Sullivan and Charlie Shew (percussion), Charlie guides the group in the call-and-response singing of mantras, co-creating a sacred musical container in which to be uplifted, deepened, comforted, and revitalized.

Check out Charlie's kirtan music at http://www.charliebraun.com.

Join us on Friday, May 11, when Adam Bauer returns to lead our next kirtan.

Sacred Dance

The Sacred Dance Group at the Unitarian Universalist Society: East invites new participants to join this ancient tradition. All interested members and friends of UUS:E are welcome, and participation is free. No experience is necessary—just the desire to move to the spirit! (It's not necessary to attend every time the group meets.) If you are interested in exploring sacred dance, contact Christine Joyner at 860-983-6705.

Dates and times for meetings will be determined after receiving input from those who are interested, so please be sure to call Christine.

Sacred dance is movement with spiritual intention. The term is a modern one for an ancient practice of worshipping and expressing spiritual beliefs as a group. Women and men usually worshipped separately with drums and dances, often worshipping the different roles of their lives.

Join the Sacred Dance Group at UUS:E for a wonderful, modern variation on the ancient practice, and experience the expression of spirituality through movement and connection with others.

Daring Democracy

Reading group is moving toward actions

On Sunday, March 11, seventeen UUS:E members had a lively discussion about Daring Democracy by Frances Moore Lappe and Adam Eichen. Although the book starts with a thorough, but depressing, list of the ways that the anti-democracy forces have systematically worked to suppress our freedoms, it ends with many uplifting examples of groups taking counter-actions to support a new Democracy Movement. Our group is considering possible actions (such as voter registration drives, panel discussions on campaign finance reform, or candidate forums) and will be discussing various possibilities and sharing resources that each participant has been exploring. If you would like to participate in this group, our next meeting is in the Chapel from 1-3PM on April 8. If you would like to examine the various handouts and assignments from the first meeting, please contact Jay Stewart (JStewart@Hartford.edu).

Two Perspectives on the Israeli-Palestinian Conflict

Part II, Sunday, April 8, 2:00 PM UUS:E Meeting Room

This afternoon we welcome Rabbi Richard Plavin, who will share his experience of life in Israel and his perspective on Israeli security, democracy and human rights.

Rabbi Richard Plavin served Beth Sholom B'nai Israel in Manchester, CT, from 1979 until his retirement in 2016. He is now Rabbi Emeritus there. Rabbi Plavin is passionate about transmitting the beauty of Jewish living to all Jews. To this end, he promotes Jewish education as a lifelong pursuit, and makes his Torah lessons applicable to life today.

Rabbi Plavin is the director of The Institute for Basic Judaism, an introduction to Judaism program that serves the Conservative congregations of the Greater Hartford Area.

Raised in the Conservative Movement, he earned a bachelor's degree (1968) from Columbia University, as well as a doctorate in education (1976) from that institution, and received a master's degree (1971) and ordination (1973) from the Jewish Theological Seminary of America.

Rabbi Plavin is married to Lisa Schnitzer Plavin, and they have three daughters and seven grandchildren.

The Installation of the Rev. Dr. Adam Robersmith

Universalist Church of West Hartford Sunday, April 29, 4:00 PM

The members of the Universalist Church of West Hartford at 433 Fern St. in West Hartford cordially invite you to attend the installation of their newly-called minister, the Rev. Dr. Adam Robersmith. The installation ceremony will take place on Sunday, April 29 at 4:00 PM. All are welcome.

Rev. Josh Pawelek adds: We don't get to witness many installations in the Greater Hartford area. The installation is a potent symbol of our Unitarian Universalist congregational polity, and worth attending if you've never witnessed one before.

Family Talent Show!

UUS:E holds a Coffee House the first Saturday of each month. The upcoming Coffee House on April 7 will start with a Family Talent Show at 6 PM. Kids are invited to come and share their talents—singing, dancing, magic, juggling, poetry, gymnastics, skits—all are welcome! Family acts are encouraged! After the talent show portion of the night, we'll have a brief intermission before moving onto the regular Coffee House. Kids are most welcome to stay for that too! Bring your own dinner or snacks to enjoy during the show. This event is always a lot of fun! We hope to see lots of you there!

Did you know...

...UUS:E sells Stop & Shop gift cards after services on the first and third Sundays of the month? If you do your weekly grocery shopping at Stop & Shop, buying these cards is a GREAT way to support the church without it costing you a cent. Cards for $50, $100, or $250 can be purchased at face value, and, in return, Stop & Shop gives the church 5 percent of the sales. This simple fundraiser has raised nearly $2,000 each year for UUS:E, and with stores in Manchester, Vernon, South Windsor, East Hartford, and Glastonbury—it's likely a lot more folks from UUS:E are out there who can participate but just don't realize it. If you shop at Stop & Shop, please consider picking up one of these easy-to-use cards.

Emergency Preparedness #6

Disturbed Person with a Weapon

Our newly authorized Emergency Operations Plan defines actions to be taken when a critical situation occurs on the property. This "all hazards plan" identifies twelve situations that could risk personal safety or property damage. Each emergency situation is designated as a separate annex with specific instructions. Let's next look at Annex D: Disturbed Person with a Weapon.

DID YOU KNOW...

...the average time an incident with an armed shooter lasts is only 7 minutes? Did you know that most fatalities from this situation are people lying still trying to hide?

DO YOU KNOW WHAT TO DO IF THERE IS AN ARMED PERSON WHO IS DISTURBED?

Do you remember when you first learned to drive a car? No one would think of taking a driver's test after just reading an instruction manual. You first take driving lessons. And practice driving.

The following procedures are to be followed (Follow A.L.I.C.E. = Alert, Lockdown, Inform, Counter, and Evacuate):

- 1. Alert others throughout the building that a shooter is present.
- 2. Lockdown by barricading the room you are in, staying out of view and remaining quiet.
- 3. Inform authorities by calling 911.
- 4. Counter if the shooter is present by throwing hymnals, chairs and other objects, and by creating a lot of noise to distract and confuse the shooter. Close in if possible to disarm the person.
- 5. Evacuate when safe to do so.
- 6. Follow instructions of identified police officers directing you where to go as you leave the building.

The tabletop exercise reenactment held on January 28, 2018 demonstrated the effectiveness of this approach. Future exercises will be held to properly train staff, leaders, members and visitors. It will only work if most people know how to act quickly.
