Sunday Services Schedule

April Ministry Theme: Becoming

In April we continue to hold one virtual worship service every Sunday morning at 10:00 AM. For the time being our Sunday services will be held using Zoom. Our Zoom login and call-in information will be shared through the congregational eblast. If you are not subscribed to the congregational eblast, please send a message to e-news@uuse.org or contact Annie Gentile in the UUS:E office to arrange another method of receiving relevant information.

April 4: "Break Forth Into Joy."

Join us for our all-congregational Easter Music service. As the nation slowly comes back from the coronavirus pandemic, we absolutely need a spring-inspired celebration this year!

Coordinators: Mary Bopp, Gina Campellone and Rev. Josh Pawelek

April 11: "On Becoming You."

As spiritual beings we are shaped by both internal forces and external event. We consider what it means to be true to your essential self and the different sources of guidance on this continuing path to becoming you.

Contributors: Peggy Webbe and Dorothy Bognar

Coordinators: Beth Hankins and Kristen Dockendorff

April 18: "Earthrise for Earth Day!"

This morning we celebrate Earth Day 2021 with a service designed in response to Amanda Gorman's 2018 poem, "Earthrise."

Coordinators: members of the UUS:E Sustainable Living Committee, Gina Campellone and Rev. Josh Pawelek

April 25: "What is Prayer?"

Is prayer about getting? Giving? Expressing gratitude? Perhaps all of these things and more. Join us as we explore prayer and its meaning in many contexts.

Coordinators: Mary Bopp and Marsha Howland

May 2: "Telling A New UU Story?"

As we continually look forward to post-pandemic congregational life, let's pause to reflect on the stories we tell about who we are as people of faith. Given what we've been through over the past year, do our older stories still resonate? Might new stories be emerging?

Coordinator: Rev. Josh Pawelek

Note: This morning we welcome the members of the Unitarian Society of Northampton and Florenc.e and All Souls UU Congregation of New London

Community Outreach Ministry

Charitable Giving for April 2021

As always, thank you for your generosity.

"We do not gather our gifts only for ourselves, but to share with the larger community."

Continuing our practice of sharing our gifts with the community beyond our walls, fifty percent of our Sunday plate collections for the month of April will go to CT Alliance to End Sexual Violence

Please contact Louisa Graver at lgraver163@gmail.com, David Lacoss, or Nancy Madar at nancymadar@hotmail.com.

Checks made out to UUS:E will be treated as follows. If the memo line:

- ✓ is blank or "pledge" is written, all will go toward your pledge.
- ✓ has "COM" or the name of the charity is on the memo line, all will go to the charity.
- ✓ has "1/2 pledge, 1/2 COM," it will be divided equally.

The Minister's Column: Hallelujah!

Dear Ones,

Our ministry theme for April is becoming. I can't imagine a better theme for this springtime moment. As we slowly begin to emerge from pandemic restrictions, as we slowly begin to contemplate how we can start sharing congregational life in person, I urge us to contemplate who and what we are becoming.

I assume the pandemic has changed us. Our congregational life won't return to exactly the way it was prior to COVID-19. That is, some aspects of congregational life will be pretty much the same as before; some will be different. We need to prepare ourselves for both. And the best way to begin that preparation is to contemplate, together, who and what we are becoming.

As a way into this contemplation, I'd like to share a set of questions from the nationally recognized church consultant, Susan Beaumont. (Special thanks to Gina Campellone for bringing these questions to my attention!) Beaumont divides her questions into three categories. First, she asks about loss. For so many of us there has been extraordinary loss during the pandemic. We need to grieve our losses before we can enter fully and authentically into the next stage of our life—before we can become! What has our congregation lost? Let's try to name it. Consider these questions:

- What were we on the verge of discovering or accomplishing before the onset of the pandemic? What needs to move forward in different ways now?
- What was possible before that may not be possible for some time—if ever?
- What seemed important before that feels superfluous now?

Second, Beaumont asks about our assumptions. The pandemic has likely undercut the power of at least some of our assumptions about congregational life. What assumptions have lost their power? Consider these questions:

- What was undervalued before that may hold greater value now?
- What mattered about geography before that no longer matters?

- What new abundance are we experiencing now? Where are we experiencing scarcity now that was not evident before?

Third, what is emerging? The pandemic has not only forced us to adapt and innovate in the short-term, but also to welcome new ways of being in the long-term. Consider these questions:

- What is our greatest asset now?
- What relationships will we need to build on or strengthen in the months ahead?
- What unique role might our congregation play in local, national, and even global recovery?
- What long term changes in the bigger picture would we like to be part of bringing to fruition?

I urge each of you to spend some time with these questions. I invite you to share your responses with me, either by email, phone, Zoom meeting, or outdoor in-person meeting. Let's get together! Then, in the coming weeks, I hope to organize a series of group conversations (virtual and in-person) to gather and hone your collective responses. Watch the regular eblasts for times and locations. We are in a mode of becoming, and it is wise for us to articulate.

Editor's Note: Since finalizing his column, Josh and Gina have organized several discussion sessions. See "Let's Talk," after Gina's column.

With love,
—Rev. Josh

Enter, rejoice, and come in!

A Religious Education message from Gina

Dear Friends,

When preparing to write my monthly column for the congregational newsletter, it is my practice to go back and look at last year's column, both for possible inspiration and to make sure I'm not repeating myself! I was momentarily surprised and confused when I opened my documents and couldn't find a column for last April. And then it hit me—at this time last year, we were less than a month into the pandemic. Like most people, I was still in a state of shock. I couldn't quite wrap my head around what was unfolding all around us. Was it safe to go buy groceries? Had I missed the memo about stocking up on toilet paper? Would schools be closed indefinitely? I was so busy trying to answer these questions—and hundreds of others—that meeting the newsletter deadline was not even on my radar. And even if it had been, what could I possibly have said?

A year has passed, those questions have been answered, and although we're not yet "post-pandemic," we're getting there. Of course we still don't know exactly what happens next, but I've grown more comfortable with the unknown, and writing a monthly newsletter column is a very manageable task. In fact, the predictability of it is actually quite reassuring.

Generally in April I write about all the upcoming rituals and celebrations that traditionally happen in the spring at UUS:E. Easter, Flower Communion, the Affirmation service, RE Sunday, Volunteer Appreciation, and planting the garden have all become beloved traditions at our congregation. And many of these will indeed still take place in some adapted form. But many of the who, what, when, and where questions have yet to be answered. The spring at UUS:E is a work in progress. We are inching our way toward being back together, but what that will look like is not yet known.

The same is true of the summer, the fall, and possibly even the winter. And while we are unable to make any concrete plans for future programming at the moment, now is the perfect time to explore the possibilities. Last month I invited you all to think about what you might like to see happen at UUS:E when we return. I even offered an incentive.

Send me your ideas and have your name entered into a drawing for a Barnes & Noble gift card. I only heard from one person. Perhaps the rest of you didn't get a chance to read last month's newsletter, or maybe you thought I wasn't talking to you. But I was! I meant YOU. I want to hear from everyone—children and youth, parents and grandparents, old people, young people, all the people! So I am extending the invitation once again. I encourage you to brainstorm, make a list, draw a picture, dream big, and let your imagination run wild. If you had a magic wand and could create any programming you want at UUS:E, what would it be? A thriving children's choir? A Wednesday evening vespers service? A UU themed summer day camp? A new and improved sound system in the sanctuary? Friday evening pizza parties? A Ferris wheel in the parking lot? Can I promise that all your dreams and wishes will come to fruition? Nope. But I can promise that they will be read, considered, explored, and appreciated. I can't wait to hear what you've got in mind!

Send your ideas to redirector@uuse.org by April 15 and you just might be the lucky winner.

Thanks and good luck!

With love,
Gina

Let's Talk About What We've Learned

An invitation to Dialogue from the Rev. and the DRE

UUS:E's meetinghouse remains closed to in-person activity, but we are slowly beginning to imagine how to reopen later this year. While the Unitarian Universalist Association continues to advise congregations to carry on with virtual activities until the coronavirus is fully under control, they are also sharing various models for how to reopen. Our UUS:E Emergency Preparedness Team is reviewing these models and will be making recommendations to the Policy Board in the coming weeks.

As part of the reopening process, we—Gina and Rev. Josh—feel it is critical that we as a congregation learn as many lessons as possible from our pandemic experience. Who are we becoming given what we've been through? To explore this question, we have scheduled four meetings over the course of April and early May. Each of these meetings will take place online, though two of them will also happen simultaneously outdoors at UUS:E if the weather is nice. Join us for as many of these meetings as you would like:

Tuesday, April 13 at 1:00 PM. Outdoors at UUS:E. Watch the eblasts for login information.

Wednesday, April 21st at 10:00 AM. Online only. Watch the eblasts for login information.

Friday, April 30th, 9:00 AM. Outdoors at UUS:E. Bring your own coffee. Watch the eblasts for login information.

Monday, May 3rd, 7:00 PM. Online only. Watch the eblasts for login information.

We will be inviting people to respond to the questions listed below from the nationally known congregational consultant, Susan Beaumont. Note: these may not be the only questions we discuss. You may have other questions. If so, we are happy to include your questions in the conversation. The important thing is that UUS:E members and friends have an opportunity to discern together what we've learned from more than a year of pandemic. Here are Beaumont's questions:

- What were we on the verge of discovering or accomplishing before the onset of the pandemic?
- What was possible before that may not be possible for some time—if ever?
- What seemed important before that feels superfluous now?
- What was undervalued before that may hold greater value now?
- What mattered about geography before that no longer matters?
- What new abundance are we experiencing now?
- Where are we experiencing scarcity now that was not evident before?
- What is our greatest asset now?
- What relationships will we need to build on or strengthen in the months ahead?
- What unique role might our congregation play in local, national, and even global recovery?
- What long term changes in the bigger picture would we like to be part of bringing to fruition?

With love,
Gina and Josh

We Are UUs!

UUnpeeling the Layers

A series to learn more about each other

Susan Randolph and John ("Jay") Stewart are longtime members of UUS:E. They initially became involved to provide their two children a liberal spiritual education. Their son and daughter are now independent adults. Susan and Jay especially appreciate the UUS:E community support for social justice and environmental issues which they value deeply.

As retirees, Jay and Susan are still very busy, and wish they had even more time for their many interests. They enjoy hiking, biking and cross-country skiing. Susan loves reading and playing piano. Jay loves rock-climbing and is happy to encourage others to do so. He appreciates the pandemic-induced downtime which allows him to take "Great Courses" online. He particularly loves learning more about science.

Both Susan and Jay are retired from university teaching careers. Jay taught sociology and statistics at the University of Hartford. Susan was an economics professor at the University of Connecticut. She continues her work with the Human Rights Measurement Initiative and encourages others to find their website. The online introduction asks, "How do we tell if countries are respecting human rights and allowing them to flourish?" It answers, "If we want leaders to prioritize human rights, we need to measure them." The goal is to provide advocates the data they need. At rightstracker.org there are specifics about human rights within individual countries.

For many years Jay Stewart has been an active member of the Sustainable Living Committee/Climate Action Team. This group was instrumental in the achievement of "Green Sanctuary" designation of UUS:E by the UUA In 2006. They also met the goal of "Green House of Worship" status in 2016, designated by the Inter-Religious Eco-Justice Network.

This UUS:E team continues to inform and encourage our congregation to use resources and live "in a way that is environmentally respectful, economically sound, and socially just." New members are always welcome to join and participate in smaller or larger projects. One ongoing activity has been once monthly sale of Equal Exchange coffees and chocolate after Sunday Services. This should resume once we are able to return to the meetinghouse. Before the pandemic, the team planned to start a project to help members share various tools and equipment, many of which are only occasionally needed. This will conserve materials and reduce consumerism. There is more information about this on the UUS:E website.

As parents, this couple is understandably proud of their adult offspring. Their son now lives in Oregon where he is in his third year of residency as a naturopath doctor. Susan and Jay plan to eventually move to Oregon to be near their son and his husband and child. Their adult daughter is a nutritionist, affiliated with the University of Utah, with a specialty in cystic fibrosis. (Susan is excited to report that there is a recent and "huge" advance in treatment for this condition.)

As seniors, they enthusiastically report their latest news: full vaccination against COVID-19, and a face-to-face domestic dinner date with their friends Bill and Susan Bosworth. Congratulations!

With spring arriving, and more vaccines available, we can all look forward to more such connections.

WhaleCoast Alaska

Summer 2021

Have you ever wanted to visit Alaska? If so, WhaleCoast Alaska 2021 is for you! Four Alaska UU congregations invite you to experience our unique environmental and spiritual tour program this summer, when it will be safe to travel again. See Alaska through the eyes of local UUs, with friendly homestays and awe-inspiring tour activities. See wildlife, including moose, bears, caribou, whales, bald eagles, sea lions. Visit Denali National Park. Experience Native Alaskan culture. WhaleCoast Alaska is an inspirational way to visit our beautiful state. Complete info: <http://whalecoastak.org/>. This is a once-in-a-lifetime experience you won't want to miss! Contact Roy Maynard or Vivian Carlson for information about their Whale Coast Alaska trip in 2019.

General Assembly

Registration for Virtual General Assembly (GA) 2021, June 23 – 27, is now open. Simply go to uua.org and follow the prompts for GA registration.

Only registered attendees will have advanced notice of special events and highlights like the Ware Lecture. Attendees will also enjoy using a new GA app which promises to make navigating GA easier. Members who have attended GA's in the past have always come away enriched having shared in the gathering of our larger community: stimulating lectures and sessions, beautiful music and empowered to translate faith to action.

An Inclusive and Welcoming Congregation.

As part of our commitment to building an inclusive and welcoming congregation, and to extend the message of CB Beal's March 13, 2021, Zoom workshop on "Minding Your T's and Q's," we are seeking expressions of interest in a UUA program on transgender inclusion offered by the Transforming Hearts Collective. This six-part online program explores the intersection of trans identity, spirituality, and faith community in order to create congregations that are fully inclusive and affirming of the full range of gender diversity. Details are available at:

<https://www.transformingheartscollective.org/stories/announcing-our-first-online-course>.

Before UUS:E commits to purchasing the program, however, we need to know how many are likely to participate. If you have an interest in this program, please contact Lorry King (kingl92@gmail.com), no later than March 31, 2021.

Stop & Shop Cards

Stop & Shop cards can still be purchased despite the pandemic. Anyone who is interested in buying a card can contact Annie, our office administrator. Cards come in $50, $100 and $250 amounts. The money raised from this effort goes into the general fund. And they make great holiday gifts! If you need any help with this or more information, contact Sandy Johnson at 860-888-9673.

Music Salon

UUS:E's next virtual Music Salon Unplugged on Friday April 30 at 6:30 PM! It will be virtual, so recordings of musicians will be presented, but the musician will be there "in-person." Musicians of all levels are invited to perform. We will be on Zoom, enjoying each other's music and having fun. Bring your favorite beverage and relax! As always, listeners will be welcome. If you would like to participate as a musician or listener, or if you simply want more information, contact Peggy Webbe at peggywebbe@gmail.com or 860-871-8035. Or contact Mary Bopp@verizon.net. A day or so prior to the event, we will send Zoom sign-in information to those who have contacted us.

The Auction is Back: Here Comes the Sun!

Unitarian Universalist Society: East

HERE COMES THE SUN!

Virtual Goods & Services Auction

Mark your calendars for the terrific all-virtual Goods & Services Auction coming up in June! Silent auction bidding on artwork, meals, outdoor excursions, gift cards, museum passes and more from June 1 – 12. Then the exciting conclusion—the “live” auction of a few choice items with an exclusive online concert by the Meetinghouse Band, at 2 PM on Sunday, June 13!

This annual event is fun and important in so many ways: We get to know other UU’s at each event; we can learn new skills and enjoy delicious foods prepared by other members; and we support our beloved UUS:E community!

What could you contribute? All traditional donations are welcome, and here are some additional COVID-friendly ideas to consider:

- Lessons: What can you teach? Can you show people how to cook, repair, draw, move or try anything else? Donate a Zoom session OR maybe some in-person instruction when it’s safe
- Deliveries: Back door drop-off of homemade goodies or full dinners, bouquets, other treats
- Online Get-Togethers: Shared movie watch parties or multi-household games, with popcorn and beverages dropped earlier in the day
- Outdoor Small Group Activities: Hikes, bike trips, water sports, fire pit gatherings, picnics, etc. Share your new favorite walking route, people are eager to expand their itineraries!
- Services: Yard and garden assistance, from advice to actual sweaty labor; maybe you can water a few gardens while families are away on vacation

- Things: Items of value you no longer use, or new items that you have made (since it’s all online, we have the space for more items than usual)

So put on your thinking caps right away!! Please email your donation details to: auction@uuse.org. If possible, include a photo of the event, object or goodies you’re offering. (Don’t worry—we can fill in with graphics if you can’t take any pix).

What about unused events from last year’s auction? Cancelled events will not be rescheduled. If you bought a meal or activity that couldn’t take place due to COVID-19, you will receive a credit equal to half of what you spent on those purchases. You can use that credit on your 2021 auction invoice, regardless of what you buy this year. If you donated a meal or activity that had to be cancelled, please consider making a new donation this year—something you can share over the summer, fall or winter of 2021.

Questions?

The auction has its own email for all things auction: auction@uuse.org. Contact the committee (Stan McMillen, Nancy Pappas, Susan Gabriele, Chris Larson and Jennifer Klee) there.

Green Sanctuary News

Spring is here! Hopefully it is feeling like spring as you read this, and you are enjoying renewed life in your gardens, on your walks, and in your hearts. April is such a precious month! Hopefully we will have a "normal" amount of rain and sun, warm days and cool nights, and only gentle winds.

Earth Day is on April 22. The weeks of April 16 – April 25 are being given the theme, "Sacred Ground: Cultivating Connections between our Food, our Faith, and the Climate," by Interfaith Power and Light. We plan to show the film they are featuring and offering to share with congregations called Kiss the Ground. At UUS:E we plan to celebrate Earth Day on Sunday, April 18, in our Zoom service and in the afternoon for a Seed and plant swap. Then on April 25 Mary Lawrence will offer a webinar on "No-till Gardening." I, Janet, am anxious to learn HOW we can learn to capture carbon dioxide from the air and put it into our yards, gardens and grounds! Here are details for each event:

Seed & Plant Swap: Sunday, April 18, 2:00 PM. Join us in the Peas & Love Community Garden on church grounds where we'll be digging up plant volunteers in need of new homes. If you have seeds or plants you'd like to share, bring those with you and swap with us! Wear masks for COVID, garden gloves for digging, and bring containers for transporting. For more info, contact Mary Lawrence, wellonwheels@hotmail.com.

No-Till Gardening Webinar: Sunday, April 25, 2:00 PM. Learn how to create a high yield, low-maintenance, instant gratification no-till garden that also benefits the planet! In this webinar, you'll learn how to get started, what materials you'll need, and what to plant. You'll also learn about veganic (vegan organic) growing methods, which means no chemical fertilizers, pesticides, or herbicides, and no animal by products like manure, fish, blood & bone meal, and zero-cost techniques for enriching the soil. RSVP to Mary Lawrence, wellonwheels@hotmail.com.

Film and Discussion: Kiss the Ground. You will be able to sign up to watch at home, and then to join into a discussion, stay tuned for the time and date. I personally was very inspired by this film and this down-to-earth solution, so well explained, to the crises we face with our climate, our food and our futures. It's not just about reducing emissions. It's about drawing down the CO₂ already lost from the earth and adding it back into the soil where it belongs! It's about a big change in our agricultural practices and how food is grown and raised. Read about it and see the trailer here:

<https://www.faithclimateactionweek.org/featured-film-kit/>

The full film is also available on Netflix.

Annual Meeting

Dear UUS:E Voting Members:

UUS:E's 2021 Annual Meeting will take place on Sunday morning, May 23, shortly after the 10:00 AM service ends. We will again be holding our meeting over zoom as we will likely not be holding services in person yet at that time.

The agenda for the annual meeting will include the following:

- Approval of the 2021-22 UUS:E operating budget
- Approval of the 2021-22 slate of officers and leaders;
- "Thank you" to outgoing leaders.

If you would like to vote but are unable to attend the meeting, proxy ballots are available in the UUS:E office. If you would like to designate a proxy, please contact Annie Gentile in the UUS:E office by Wednesday, May 12th if you want an email copy of the form to complete and May 3, if you want it sent by USPS. All proxies must be returned to Annie no later than Monday, May 17. If you have any questions or concerns regarding this meeting, please contact one of us.

We look forward to seeing you on May 23!

Robert Stolzman, UUS:E President

Kevin Holian-Borgnis, UUS:E Vice President

Rev. Josh Pawelek, UUS:E minister

UU Connect with You

Members of the Pastoral Friends Committee would like to invite you to join us on April 22, 2021 at 10:00 AM for a Zoom gathering, just to chat. This is for any members or friends who would like to have a chance to visit. There is no specific topic; we just want to reach out. We're doing this once a month on different days and at different times. Please join us. Check the eBlast for the Zoom link.

The Reader

By Bernhard Schlink; Historic Fiction; 218 pages

Summary: This mesmerizing novel is a story of love and secrets, horror and compassion, unfolding against the haunted landscape of postwar Germany.

Recommended by Sandy Karosi: "Beautifully written and pulled me in immediately. A story of love and horrible, heartbreaking moral consequences."

Saving Red: The True Story of a Rescued Horse Turned Rescuer

By Susan L. Newman; Memoir; 270 pages

Summary: Rescuing an older horse in desperate conditions seemed like a humane no brainer. I didn't know I was bringing a therapist to my stable in Tucson.

Recommended by Al Benford: "I read the whole book today and had my own tears at the end. It was completely engaging. It is an enormous effort at telling such a personal and emotional story of an incredible, meaningful and life changing adventure."

The Book Woman of Troublesome Creek

By Kim Michele Richardson; Historic Fiction; 308 pages

Summary: 1936. Tucked deep into the woods of Troublesome Creek, KY, lives blue-skinned Cussy Carter, the last living female of the rare Blue People ancestry. She joins Roosevelt's Pack Horse Library Project of Kentucky and becomes a traveling librarian, riding across slippery creek beds and up treacherous mountains on her mule to deliver books and other reading material to the impoverished hill people of Eastern Kentucky. Along her route, Cussy faces doubters at every turn, but is determined to bring the joy of books to the hardscrabble Kentuckians.

Recommended by Marcie Brown: "Riveting story of the prejudice against the Blue People of Kentucky and the Pack Horse Library's dedicated women and men who brought books, compassion and hope to the rural poor."

The Boy, the Mole, the Fox and the Horse

By Charlie Mackesy; Impossible to classify; 128 pages

Summary: This is about four very diverse friends (see the title) learning and sharing about love and kindness and what matters. For example: The mole tells the boy, "love doesn't need you to be extraordinary."

Recommended by Marsha Howland: "This book is beautifully written and illustrated by the same remarkably talented man, who clearly created this book with great love. Note: This book is wonderful for people of all ages, including children and grownups who could use some inspiration."

Newsletter Accessibility

We in the Communications Committee feel that it would be a good idea to make the newsletter findable through a menu at uuse.org. We acknowledge that there are privacy issues, but we feel that if submitters are concerned about revealing their contact info, they can ask readers to contact the office instead of including their personal contact info. We are open to feedback on this issue.
